

Michelle Crosbie

My second quilt with Free Motion Quilting. I pieced the backing and added a label.

Pattern: Apple Crisp by It's Sew Emma.

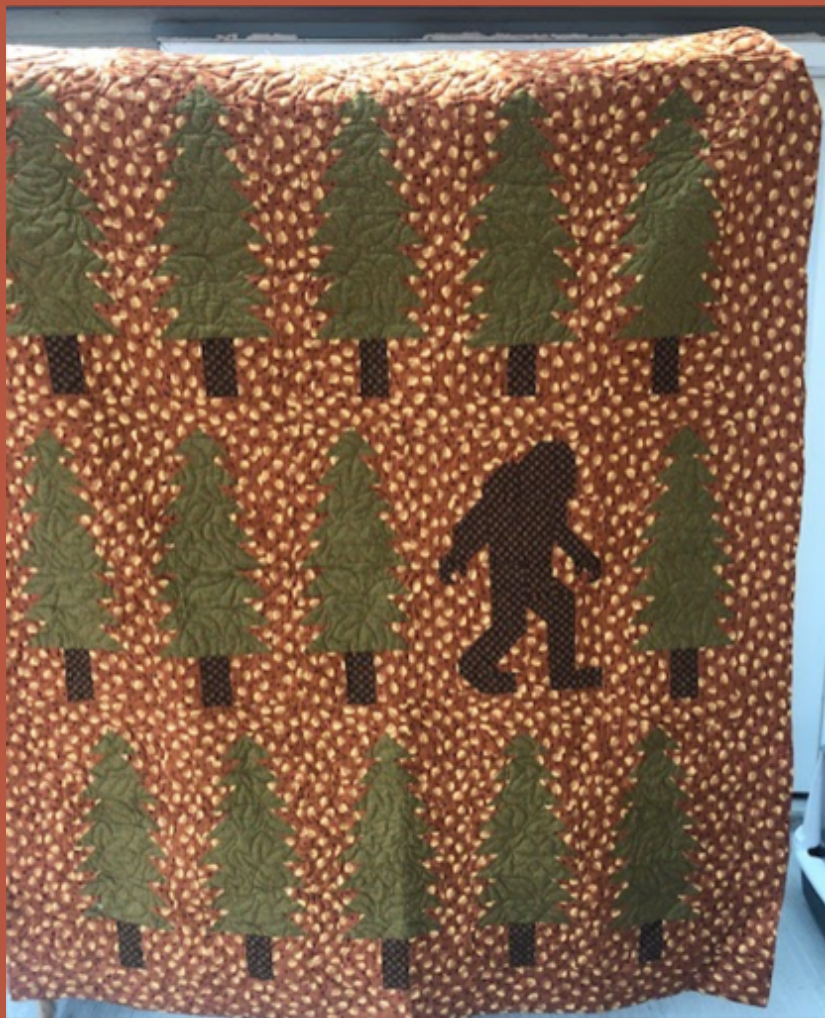

Fabric: Orchard by April Rosenthal for Moda Fabrics.

Denise Ragozzino

Several quilts here as the photos came in over two months.

The first one is called Legendary.
It is a Elizabeth Hartman pattern for my son Forrest who loves backpacking.

The second one is called Don't Feed The Bears by American Jane. It is for my son Henry who also loves camping.

Detail from: Don't Feed the Bears

Back of: Don't Feed the Bears

Mosaic Birds

Detail from: Mosaic Birds

Autumn Window

Grandson Fun

I have one more! My grandson and I made this, this week. He worked hard on it and I helped him with the sewing.

Brenda Hartley

I made this quilt as a surprise for my 93 year old mother who lives in the UK. I was supposed to be there this week, so now who knows when I will be able to deliver it. But she did see it on Facetime last weekend and loved it.

Pam Brown

Class sample from Silk and Salvage working with silk class

Deana Abramowitz

Red Pineapple

I took a class at Broadway quilts using a ruler technique, and worked on the quilt at the last two MQSC retreats, and finally finished it.

Deana Abramowitz

Northwind

This was a pattern that the guild gave out in 2004 as an Auction block. (Before we had the Spring fabric sales, we used to have a labor-intensive Guild Silent and Live Auction.)

Jim Haws

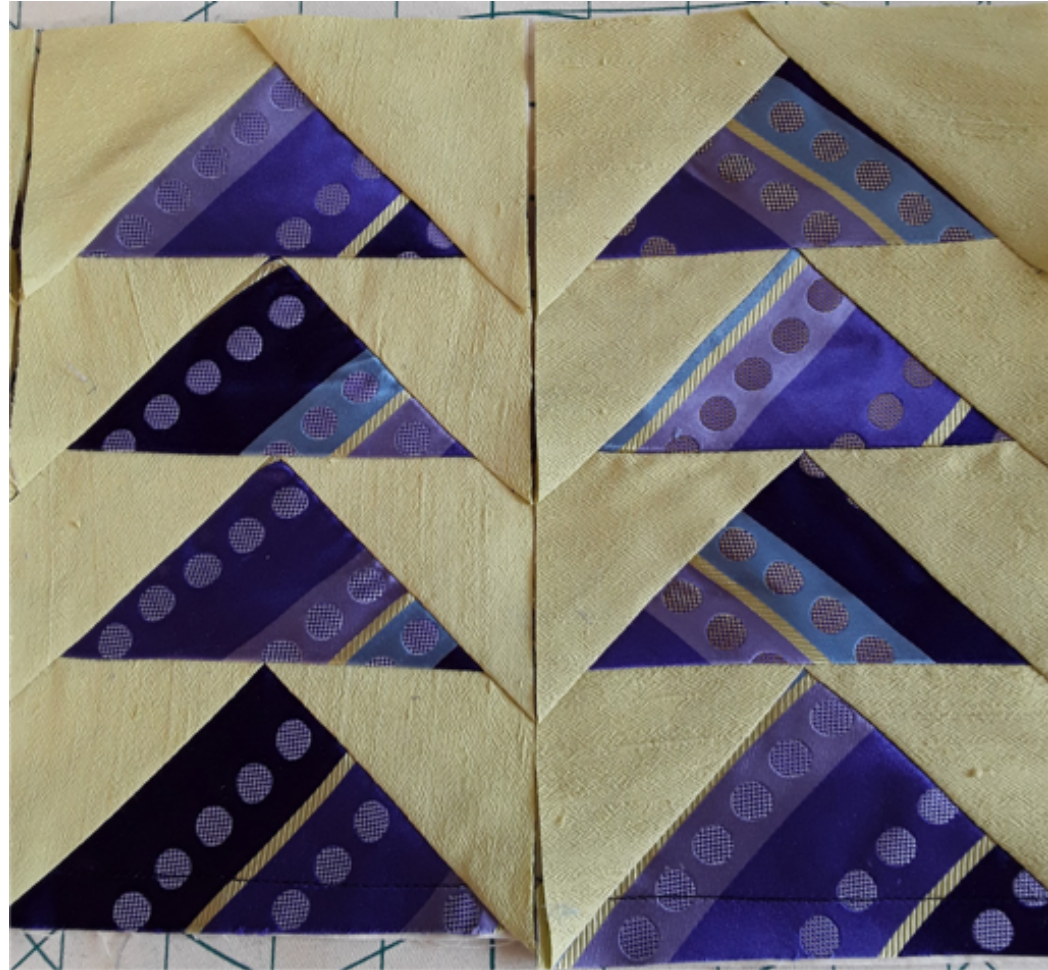

Traditional pattern, trying to use up scraps. Little by little downsizing my stash.

Does anyone want a box of "interesting" scraps, mostly under a half yard, some just few inches, but (if I remember) none under 5"

Leti Dueñas

A great virtual workshop! My first ever flying geeze with salvaged silk 😊

Debbie Ward

This is from the class I took last month called "silks and salvage". It was a great class!!

Debbie Ward

This was the block of the month for February. I won at least 12 blocks and then filled the rest in. Love it!!

Debbie Ward

I also won March blocks of the month. Here's what I put together. I think I also won 12 blocks this time.

The end!

Special thanks to those who've been waiting since August for this presentation.

If you want to share what's been keeping you occupied during these COVID times

- email MQSCShowTell@gmail.com as late as Tuesday the week of our Business Meeting,
- send up to 3 snaps showing up to 3 quilts--that's 9 snaps total 😊

Then you, too, can inspire us to do good things with fabric.